External contributions on GitHub (as of 2022, Seanpm2001)

The chart is currently broken, LibreOffice makes it really complicated. I don't know how to enter values, I tried for over 20 minutes on 2020 May 1st. I will have to get into research another time.

Notes

The lists are sorted in A-Z order of the time of contribution.

The location of a user in Kuwait is a guess

Turkey appears twice, as it is a transcontinental country, located in both Europe and Asia

V3: Removed the term republic of from India and Turkey

V3: Re-organized the document

Submission types:

Issue comments – Comments and discussion done on issues

Issue raise – Issues that are started on one of my projects

Issue acknowledgment – When an issue is acknowledged and used to improve a project directly

Self credit – Making a commit to credit themselves

Commit comments – For comments made on a commit I made

Typo fix – For ~~tpyo~~ typo fixes

Discussion comment – For comments on a discussion

Graphic design – When digital design is commissioned and submitted to be used on a project

Source code donation – When a piece of source code is donated to be used on a project

Criticism – For criticism of my actions (constructive)

Submission levels:

Extremely low level – The lowest effort and importance level

Low level – Low effort, some importance

Medium level – Some effort, some importance

High level – Lots of effort, some importance

Very high level – Lots of effort, lots of importance

Historical – For historical commits that are very important, but can't be measured otherwise

Other

Many contributions are listed as 0/# this is because they are not definitely directly contributing to a projects source code.

~~The contribution type here is for pull requests only at the moment.~~
